DigitalFlightDeck™ News

Thank you for your interest in the paradigm-shifting Aveo DigitalFlightDeck™ avionics suite. Since many of the modules are now reaching Golden Master status we have removed all pictures, information and specifications for the Aveo DigitalFlightDeck™ pending the release of the production products after certification approval. Since the final product incorporates numerous advances that are subject to patent applications restrictions against commercial presentation, and since the final products configuration and appearance and features are even more advanced than the mockups we have presented the last year, we prefer to remove all such information so as to provide a more dramatic introduction coupled with myocardial infarction for our competitors.

Should you have any specific questions, or you are an aircraft manufacturer interested in integrating the Aveo DigitalFlightDeck™ into your cockpit, please contact me, Christian Nielsen, at christian@aveoengineering.com at your convenience.

Thank you for your understanding.
